"My bucket list got handled straight away, and I was able to hone my skills as the week progressed. This was true for all the angler's with me. This was just a taste of the fishing challenges and other opportunities available here throughout the year. I will be back to sample some of them."

"My lasting impression of the fishing trip hosted by Casa La Caleta is that it was extremely well planned and executed. From arrival at Los Cabos Airport until our return six days later the experience was first class."

"I have been fishing in Baja every year for over ten years. The fishing out of La Paz has progressively gone downhill while the number of fishermen has done just the opposite. That is, until I discovered Casa La Caleta. It bucks the trend. Fishing for big roosters and jack caravels was fantastic with no competition. I can't recommend it highly enough."

"I've been lucky enough to fish Baja's East Cape on and off for close to 20 years now and it wasn't until my time at Casa La Caleta, did I feel like I got a taste of what it was like to be and fish someplace new. The fishing is so good, that you can fully scratch the catching itch, and turn your attention to all the incredible beauty surrounding you. Amazing operation with all the right values. Comfortable and relaxing accommodations, incredibly hard working guides who have lived and fished the waters for generations, and the absolute best roosterfish I've seen in all my years fishing Baja."

"To say that we had a fantastic time would be an understatement! We had so many doubles on both roosters & mahi that I couldn't begin to count. The fish were big & tough, testing our 10wts to the max. We are already planning our return trip."

"The guides have been fishing these waters since they were knee-high and are completely in tune with the fishery. In a world where finding solitude is difficult, this program hits the nail on the head."

"My week of fishing with Team Casa La Caleta was one of the greatest experiences of my life ... and I've flown off of aircraft carriers and caught some big, wild steelhead, so that's saying something. I could use words like "awesome", "fantastic" and "mind blowing" but those words don't do justice to just how totally cool the whole experience really was."

"Casa La Caleta is a place of adventurous hope. It is a place that strips out all the resort frilly lace so common today & leaves nothing but fun. What you get are guides with an intimate knowledge of the area because they are...fishermen who were born and grew up on these waters. And above all, you get the most exciting action packed fishing experience of a lifetime. There is nothing like it ... period. If you want to step back in time to simple unspoiled luxury hosted by fantastic people & amazing fishing, Casa La Caleta is for you. I smile & gently shake my head in giddy delight every time I reflect on my recent visit. I can't wait to return."

"What impressed me most was the attention to detail along every step of the way, from the food and accommodations in La Paz to the comfortable and family style atmosphere of the lodge itself and the time with Colin and Jeana, our warm and welcoming hosts. You can't control the weather, the wind or the fish on any trip, but Casa La Caleta's scrutinous focus on every other aspect of the experience was unsurpassed."

The trip to the Sea of Cortez was amazing; although called a road, it felt more like an adventurous path. It was a view that hasn't changed in centuries of Baja California Sur, bringing back memories of Ernest Hemingway and John Steinbeck. The rooms were perfect, clean, organized, and well thought out. They had TV's but were never turned on. The surrounding scenery was rendered in high definition, and our appreciation for that station was very high. They had AC but seldom used it, thanks to the constant, always pleasant breeze. The complex had a roof top that was gathering place for sunsets, sunrises, and star gazing. If you get this way of life, it's perfect. Frank Zappa once said, "If you get it, you get it. If not, you're not supposed to." Thank you, Casa La Caleta, for an incredible moment in my life!"

"Minutes after reaching our fishing area, with our first casts, we were already doubled up and both fighting 20-30 lb Rooster fish on a fly. The water boiled with fish, Dorado, Tuna, Jacks and Rooster fish. Hookups with almost every good cast. That scene played out again and again every day of our stay. Done fishing for the day? Throw on some snorkel gear and enjoy a sea teeming with colorful reef fish. Enjoy a desert hike or relax and watch hundreds of pelicans dive and feast on sardines. Enjoy the sunset from a rooftop deck and meet friendly locals for dinner and feast on a Dorado you caught that day. Hot showers, clean drinking water and comfortable air-conditioned rooms with great beds made this the most luxurious fish camp I ever stayed in."

"I'll start off with saying that the Baja is the most unbelievable fishery I've ever fished. The marine and aquatic life are truly remarkable. From the sea to the mountain tops, from the sunrise to the sunset, the Baja truly has a special place in my heart. The people of Baja are wonderful, the hosts and captains are amazing, and the lodge gives the feel of modernity in an off-the-grid village life. I can't wait until the next season I get to spend down there. It truly can't come fast enough!"

"My husband and I spent a week with the Casa La Caleta team for his 50th birthday in June, and we had an absolute blast. As a novice fly fisherwoman and completely new to saltwater fly fishing, the guides still managed to get me into gallos—and even some grande gallos! I caught yellowtail and even hooked a dorado! We had so much fun on the boats—not only catching fish, but also enjoying incredible snorkeling and even swimming with dolphins. I was already looking forward to our next trip the moment we left!"

"My experience at Casa La Caleta exceeded my expectations! For me, this was the way a fishing adventure should be: a remote village, pristine water, excellent lodging, great food, hard working guides, and AMAZING fish! Don't change anything!!"
